Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133).
- Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 30 July 2003.
- 2a) ☐ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☒ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

Disposition of Claims

DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's election with traverse of group I in Paper No. 7 is acknowledged.

The traversal is on the ground(s) that the inventions are so related that they are a single invention. This is not found persuasive because restriction is proper for the reasons set forth in the previous office action. The method is not exclusive to the apparatus or vice versa. Rejoinder, if proper, will be considered upon the identification of allowable subject matter.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Information Disclosure Statement

37 CFR § 1.56 - Duty to disclose information material to patentability .

(a) A patent by its very nature is affected with a public interest. The public interest is best served, and the most effective patent examination occurs when, at the time an application is being examined, the Office is aware of and evaluates the teachings of all information material to patentability. Each individual associated with the filing and prosecution of a patent application has a duty of candor and good faith in dealing with the Office, which includes a duty to disclose to the Office all information known to that individual to be material to patentability as defined in this section. The duty to disclose information exists with respect to each pending claim until the claim is cancelled or withdrawn from consideration, or the application becomes abandoned. Information material to the patentability of a claim that is cancelled or withdrawn from consideration need not be submitted if the information is not material to the patentability of any claim remaining under consideration in the application. There is no duty to submit information which is not material to the patentability of any existing claim. The duty to disclose all information known to be material to patentability is deemed to be satisfied if all information known to be material to patentability of any claim issued in a patent was cited by the Office or submitted to the Office in the manner prescribed by § 1.97(b) - (d) and 1.98. However, no patent will be granted on an application in connection with which fraud on the Office was practiced or attempted or the duty of disclosure was violated through bad faith or intentional misconduct. The Office encourages applicants to carefully examine:

(1) prior art cited in search reports of a foreign patent office in a counterpart application, and

(2) the closest information over which individuals associated with the filing or prosecution of a patent application believe any pending claim patentably defines, to make sure that any material information contained therein is disclosed to the Office.

(b) Under this section, information is material to patentability when it is not cumulative to information already of record or being made of record in the application, and

(1) It establishes, by itself or in combination with other information, a prima facie case of unpatentability of a claim; or

(2) It refutes, or is inconsistent with, a position the applicant takes in:

(i) Opposing an argument of unpatentability relied on by the Office, or

(ii) Asserting an argument of patentability.

A prima facie case of unpatentability is established when the information compels a conclusion that a claim is unpatentable under the preponderance of evidence, burden - of - proof standard, giving each term in the claim its broadest reasonable construction consistent with the specification, and before any consideration is given to evidence which may be submitted in an attempt to establish a contrary conclusion of patentability.

(c) Individuals associated with the filing or prosecution of a patent application within the meaning of this section are:

(1) Each inventor named in the application;

(2) Each attorney or agent who prepares or prosecutes the application; and

(3) Every other person who is substantively involved in the preparation or prosecution of the application and who is associated with the inventor, with the assignee or with anyone to whom there is an obligation to assign the application.

(d) Individuals other than the attorney, agent or inventor may comply with this section by disclosing information to the attorney, agent, or inventor.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims are indefinite and confusing because there is a conflict in transition phrases. Applicant claims that the method "consists of" (in claim 1), a closed transition phrase, and later (several claims) "further consists of" which suggests that the original phrase should have been open. "Further consists of" is oxymoronic patent claim language. It is unclear what is and what is not a limitation in the instead method.

The phrase "determining composition... corresponding to an envisaged application" in claim 1, renders the claims indefinite. It is unclear what is being determined and to what effect. Also Please note that the language of a claim must make it clear what subject matter the claim encompasses to adequately delineate its "metes and bounds". See, e.g., the following decisions: In re Hammack, 427 F.2d. 1378, 1382, 166 USPQ 204, 208 (CCPA 1970); In re Venezia 530 F.2d. 956, 958, 189 USPQ 149, 151 (CCPA 1976); In re Goffe, 526 F.2d. 1393, 1397, 188 USPQ 131, 135 (CCPA 1975); In re Watson, 517 F.2d. 465, 477, 186 USPQ 11, 20 (CCPA 1975); In re Knowlton 481 F.2d. 1357, 1366, 178 USPQ 486, 492 (CCPA 1973). The courts have also indicated that before claimed subject matter can properly be compared to the prior art, it is essential to know what the claims do in fact cover. See, e.g., the following decisions: In re Steele, 305 F.

2d. 859, 134 USPQ 292 (CCPA 1962); In re Moore 439 F.2d. 1232, 169 USPQ 236 (CCPA 1969); In re Merat, 519 F.2d. 1390, 186 USPQ 471 (CCPA 1975).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fei et al(5635387), Hopkins et al(4468455), Vajta et al(6399375), Emerson et al(5646043), Takeuchi et al(5304483), Kearney et al(5424209), Palsson et al(5888807), Grandics et al(5571720) or Pykett et al(6440734) .

Applicant claims a method of growing cells in an enclosure wherein the cells are introduced to the enclosure and media, gasses and growth factors are provided thereto. The cells are then harvested. Applicant appears to be claiming determining the needs of the cells and adding required nutrients, factors, etc as needed or desired.

Fei et al(5635387), Hopkins et al(4468455), Vajta et al(6399375), Emerson et al(5646043), Takeuchi et al(5304483), Kearney et al(5424209), Palsson et al(5888807), Grandics et al(5571720) and Pykett et al(6440734) all teach methods of culturing cells in which media, nutrients, growth factors, air etc are supplied to the cells (including hematopoietic stem cells) in a vessel as needed by the cells. As indicated above, the exact limitations of applicants invention are unclear, however the claimed method would appear to be obvious over the multitude of prior art as because the art teaches a variety of methods for monitoring the needs for cell growth (and other cellular functions) and providing the appropriate substances therefor. As the references clearly indicate that the various proportions and amounts of the ingredients used in the claimed method are result effective variables, they would be routinely optimized by one of ordinary skill in the art in practicing the invention disclosed by those references.

Accordingly, the claimed invention was prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made especially in the absence of evidence to the contrary.
